Subject: Get a move on: "monitored natural recovery" my foot!

It's embarrassing that forty years of dumping took place without controls in place. It's embarrassing that such a beautiful city with a beautiful riverbank is so polluted.

This "do nothing" approach makes me sick. Waiting another two decades is ridiculous. It blows my mind that one can profit from such dumping of toxins, then balk at paying for the cleanup, and then disagree it is much of a problem.

We shouldn't have to wait around for a cleaner river, one that doesn't poison the fish that some unknowingly eat. We deserve a more timely and more thorough approach to river clean up.
